Only Me !!!

Looking out of the window she watched all the trees, houses and people rushing backward very fast. Slowly tears started rushing down her eyes which were going back with the force of air.

Yes! We are speaking about 9 years old Adhya who was left by her parents as she was not loved as much as her brother. The reason for her birth as a girl.

Of Course she was facing a lot of partiality between her brother and herself. Although she didn't expect her distance from her parents. As time passed everyone got out of the train. But she didn't know where to go and what to do. Finally, she was the only person on the train.

As we came across some child labourers in the train who came to collect sort of plastic things. They watched the sad alone girl staring at them with tears in her eyes.

These skinny boys went to their heads and explained about the girl. This head "Rocky Bhai" is actually a cruel person for their boys. Rocky went into the train. Boys were shocked to watch him being very polite towards Adhya. Rocky sat beside the girl and started the conversation by asking her name. In the beginning she was afraid of his presence beside her with respect to his bold appearance.

Rocky Bhai got to know the fact that she was hurt heavily, as red blooded eyes revealed it. He started consoling her, taking her into his arms. She then felt very comfortable and Rocky asked the girl to come to their place. He said that he would look after her. As she didn't have any option, She accepted their proposal.

The area was actually slummy odd. She sat on the log of wood. In Front of a house in which she was going to stay from then. Time passed with the sounds of dogs barking and the children crying. Rocky's wife Shakuntala gave her a piece of bun and a glass of water. She was not able to sleep that night as the place was new.

She laid on the hard pillow and was thinking about family. She slept with Rocky's wife that day.

They looked after her like her own family. The next day she was asked to introduce herself to everyone. She met many new friends. She started adjusting herself in that surroundings. Every child used to go to work and earn some money. But she was not forced to do that. Rocky Bhai & Shakunthala liked Adhya very much. She was sent to a school nearby. Seeing all other children who were earning by themselves, she also wanted to be independent. This thought made her go to work the next day.

She went to clean tables in a restaurant for which she was given Rs.5,000 per month. She was actually missing her parents. In Spite of this she completed her schooling followed by graduation. Step by Step she was moving towards success. She became an IAS officer. Because of some technical issues, She was asked to change her name. She renamed herself as Vasundhara Devi.

One fine day, while she was busy with her work, She got a call from her PA telling that someone was waiting to meet her since morning. She asked the name of the person. Her PA sent them in immediately. The two men accompanied by her PA were walking into her cabin asking permission to get inside. She was very happy to see her father after a long time.

Her father didn't know that the IAS officer with whom he was speaking was his daughter. There was a pin drop silence for a couple of seconds. Then Adhya asked the man for the purpose of coming. He answered that he wanted a recommendation letter for a job for his son. She gave it to them within a couple of minutes although she remembered the situation of her distancing from her family.

After completing the work, Manoj kumar singh thanked her so much and started to leave the room. She maintained the secret that she was his daughter. This scene was followed by the entry of Rocky Bhai into the room calling "Adhya.....", Manoj Kumar was stunned for a minute hearing the name.

He was in a deep confusion about asking the officer that she was from which place. He finally asked the reason for the different names in the title board "Vasundhara Devi", she started wiping her tears telling that she was his own daughter whom he had left when she was 9 years old. Manoj kumar realised so much and ran to ask her forgiveness. He was almost on his knees with regret.

Adhya alias Vasundhara Devi went to hug her father followed by a shout “Adhya..... Wake Up!”. She opened her eyes slowly, she was in her sweet home. Her mother was waking her up very politely. She was not understanding how to express her exact emotion after realising the fact that it was her worst dream.

She knew and understood that she would never be left in such a way with her parents. She prayed to god to never have such dreams again.

God Pays For Real Sacrifice

Once there lived a girl who was studying abroad away from her family. In spite of being unhappy alone she continued to live away just so that she could achieve a future she had always dreamt of.

One fine morning she woke up to the chirping of birds. The sounds gave her a pleasant mind . She knew that it was an important day to fulfil her dreams. She then cheered herself and started getting ready to face her big day. She took a car and went to the office where she was going to get interviewed. She watched all the trees, houses and people rushing backwards through the window.

When she was about to attend the interview. She got a call from the hospital. Her mother was seriously ill. She ran out of the office and caught a cab to the airport. She bought a ticket to her native place. On the flight, she kept thinking about her mother. The thought of her mother being hospitalised scared her. She feared that she would lose her mother.

Whilst all this, she heard an announcement that said about the weather conditions that force the plane to make an early landing at a different destination. She grew tense and felt helpless. She then reached the nearest airport. She had no means to contact her mother because her mobile was dead.

When she came out of the airport the sky was pouring with rain and the sun never showed itself from dawn to dusk. She didn't know what to do. Later she went to a hotel and booked a room for herself. She charged her mobile. She received 25 missed calls from the hospital. She called back immediately and the nurse attended the call . The nurse said "Your mother is suffering with cancer and it is in the last stage".

Hearing this, she lost consciousness and collapsed . She took some time to recover . The nurse had also said that her mother needed an urgent operation and asked her to come fast . She was also told that the operation had a very less success rate so she had to prepare herself for any news.

The girl called back to the hospital and requested that the operation be started at the earliest and the payment would be done online.

The nurse then told me that there were certain formalities to be covered before the operation. The girl assured that her friend would take care of all the medical forms and formalities.

She then took another plane to her place. As she looked out of the window she recollected all her memories with her mother. When she was a child, her mother had accompanied her to the school and she was always supportive. This caused a lot of pain in her heart. The entire night she had no sleep and could not help her mind race with the thoughts of her mother.

The next morning, She reached the hospital and asked the address of her mother at the reception. She was very afraid to open the door or look at her mother. She consulted the doctor and enquired about her mother's condition. The doctor said that her mother was out of danger. She felt very happy and thanked all the gods she had ever known. She felt like some heavy object was lifted off her chest. She could finally breathe again.

After a while her mother opened her eyes and smiled when she saw her daughter beside her . The girl thought that she couldn't see her mother again and after seeing her she felt elated. She then received a call from the company she wanted to join. They informed her that the interview was postponed to next week . She felt very happy. After attending the interview she got placed with a high package.

A Tale Of Three Friends

A charming story about three friends, who opted unlike roads of life and found happiness in friendship. This is tender and ionic tale with different thoughts and expressions of friendship.

This story started 5 years ago in a town named Greendale , a place where everyone thinks like they knew everything, but still it's a place of innocent people. Some say, a town isn't defined by number of people in it, or the area of it. It is all about the connections which we have with our neighborhood.

Andrew Garfield is a boy who satisfies the above statement. He was a school student aged 14, tall and handsome boy who thought that, he had scope in studies as he was doing well with his academics. He had a limited number of friends and an unlimited number of known people.

In his limited friend circle he was very close with two people, Tom Holland and Tobey Maguire. These three looked like a golden trio. Tom and Tobey were average in their academics. Both of them always go crazy about things and their thoughts were extreme. They stick to whatever they believe is right. As these three were kids and not so much matured, they didn't have any fights between them and they were very close like amigo brothers.

As they grew up and started thinking like matured people, they were on separate routes of education. Tom went to another City, Tobey got less marks so he got admission in a low level degree and Andrew made up to enter a good college in his town. But still they maintained their friendship.

Tom became serious about his future and wanted to be a sincere boy whereas Tobey was still a crazy boy and was living in his dreams to stop. Tobey thought that Tom was avoiding him after leaving the town and Tom thought he was childish.

Both them were partially correct but were wrong as days passed by. They raised a huge wall of misunderstanding among them. Here, Andrew was a matured boy and he knew both his friend's feelings were not correct. And you balanced both sincerity and childish nature. He knew how it felt from both sides. But Andrew was busy in his studies to solve the problem between his friends. He was giving his best to make them forget the misunderstanding between Tom. One fine evening, and you called both of your friends and asked them for a Hangout. All agreed and went to the school ground where they generally meet. Since they all were in a locality 2 to 3 streets each they generally met in the playground.

On that evening they spoke about their lives and soon started to recall the beautiful and funny memories they had in their school days. They recalled about themselves while they were in their school in. After a fine talk they all realised that they were really Happy together.

One fine day, with a busy schedule of work all of them suddenly realised that when everyone left, their two friends were always behind to support and encourage. Term thought he was having more real laughs and fun while roaming in town on a bike with his two best friends than visiting the whole city in a car with his new friends. Tobey thought he was very much a real person and had shown real feelings for his two best friends as he was not feeling comfortable with his new friends. Andrew knew that whatever personal pressure he is in, he would get a big smile on his face when he saw his two friends and enjoyed a lot.

Finally, they all realised that they were happy when they were together and became machines without their best people in their lives. In this story, they fought, they misunderstood, they again became close. It kept on happening. But the real truth of the story is that they never ever became apart. They became friends and remain friends forever and ever. This is not only a story, it's a feeling of friendship and a close reality for many people. The emotion for some stranger in our heart and soul is friendship that one never wants to leave.

Stolen Heart

It was a cool and breezy evening. A strong gust of wind blew against his face. Gradually the sky became gloomy. People ran for taking shelter and umbrellas opened as it started raining. That sweet earthy smell, droplets hanging on leaves, and thundering sound increased the beauty of nature much more. He was paralysed in the rain. Tears were rolling down his cheek. He never expected that he would be left alone. Everyone enjoyed the rain but he was struck in deep pain.

Mary, a young designer, lived in Delhi. She lost her father at an age of 4. They both always cared for each other. She had a portrait of them taken in their childhood. She always carried it with her and felt her father in it.

Mary and her father during her childhood attended stand-up comedy shows, with great joy. So, she loved watching these shows from her childhood. She attended every show she knew about. One day, A show was organised near her place which included stand-up comedy. She was bursting with excitement to watch it.

As usual, she attended that event, planned by Myke. Myke was a popular stand-up comedian in the city. The show started as lots of people gathered. It ended in an hour. Mary eagerly awaited to talk to Myke. He saw her in the crowd. She had glossy skin with slender eyebrows.

Her hair was midnight-black and it was trimmed till her shoulders. Myke went crazy by her glimpse of a beautiful face. He fell in love with her radiant eyes. Mary interrupted him "Hey Myke! I lost my way into your heart, Help me out".

Myke stopped dead in his tracks when he heard this. He was in a dilemma about what to do. Mary uttered again "I can't believe what you did to me". He tried to speak, but couldn't. He then replied her "Found the reason for my smile, the minute I found you" both of them felt on top of the world.

Mary and Myke loved intensively, met often in different parts of the town, shared the feelings and cared for each other a lot.

They spent a lot of time understanding each other.

One fine day, Myke was invited to a wedding ceremony to perform stand-up comedy. It was planned for an hour. Then, he waited for the bride and groom.

A tall handsome guy along with an attractive girl came onto the stage. Myke tried to speak, but was choked with tears. He had a lump in his throat and was blinking away the tears.

His heart was bleeding, sank in sorrow. He was haunted by a painful desire for her. That was the wedding ceremony of Mary. Myke found her very happy with this. He was dead from inside. He then came out and walked helplessly to corner of the street . He sat there on a wooden bench and was lost in her thoughts.

He looked at the sky, it turned gloomy. It started raining. He cried in the rain so that no one could see his tears and his pain got washed away. Time heals all wounds!!
